Seventeenth.Markham and Danford or Hamp
Will Go on in Preliminary Event.

George Gardner will battle with Mike Schreck at the Salt Lake Theater April 17. No boxing news for many a day has aroused the interest among fight fans that this has brought. The Danford-Markham fight is off, because Danford at the last moment found he was unable to come down. Instead of this, Tommy Markham will meet either Danford or Hamp in a ten-round preliminary to the Gardner-Schreck contest.

Things happened fast in the boxing world yesterday. The news that Danford couldn't make connections came in the form of a long-distance message from Danford himself. He says that he cannot possibly come, and his reasons were: good. No one regretted the fact more than Danford himself. Then the Gardner-Schreck meeting, which has been under contemplation for some time, was clinched.

All Want Gardner. No fighter in America is more popular in Utah, Idaho, Montana and even Colorado than is George Gardner. His battle with Jack Root in this city last year toward making the man a strong local favorite. He is a clever, two-handed boxer, who keeps going and he has the goods to deliver to any one of his weight in America.

As Schreck, who is a boxer of the Battling Nelson order, is a boxer of the Battling Nelson order, he is a boxer of the Battling Nelson order.

San Francisco, March 25.—The Chicago National team today made four runs in the first inning on hits and errors, but thereafter could not score. The local were shut out, the visiting pitchers being very effective. Score: R. H. E. Chicago..... 4 2 1 San Francisco..... 0 0 2 punch and knows how to deliver it. He boxes right in and keeps after his man in much the same way as Nelson does. He likes punishment and loves to give it back. He relies on his feet and footwork, though he has plenty of that. The Milwaukee and Chicago exchanges have been handling this week's name a lot of late as that of a rising star in the pugilistic firmament.

Schreck a Hard Nut. It remains to be seen whether Gardner can put this star into the eclipse or not. He should be able to do it, but he'll have to work to put Schreck down for the count. And he'll have to do that if he wants to keep out, for Schreck is always an aggressor. Salt Lake people think Gardner will deliver the goods. They remember what he did here before and what he has done in many other ring battles. The man is one of the country's high-class fighters and his life has been such that it should be years before he is a thing of the past. The public, not only in Salt Lake, but all over America, will welcome Gardner's coming battle as heralding his return to the ring after a brief spell of rest—rest which, by the way, was devoted to chasing drinks and late hours, but to business.

Gardner Training Now. Gardner will be here in a couple of days. He is now on his way from Chicago. It is altogether likely that he will train in Ogden, where he has many friends and they will welcome his advent. Schreck will train in Salt Lake City. Either man, if he wins, should be able to fight against the best of his weight in America. The fact that the city is to see a good contest between men of national reputation brings many hopes that if the game be kept clean, there are better things to come.

Markham-Hamp Preliminary. Now as to the preliminaries. It is pretty well settled that Markham and Danford or Markham and Hamp will fight this out. The preliminary in itself ought to be a big drawing card, for it will be between two of the State's best fighters. And any one of these three men will fight and fight hard. Hamp is considered by many to be more clever than Danford, despite the recent result between the two. Should Danford not come the Logan boy will be a big profit in card, and he and Markham will put up a battle which ought to be better than most main events.

Chicago in a number of strong preliminaries where he showed himself to be a hero mixer, with lots of science. His recent go with Philadelphia Jack O'Brien showed Schreck as the better man, though O'Brien put the decision. The East at that time was full of criticism toward the decision. Eureka Grounds
Are EnlargedNew Material on Ball Team, and Everything Points to Strong Aggregation.

Special to The Tribune. EUREKA, March 25.—The work of enlarging the local baseball grounds was begun today and will be rushed to completion. The high board fence will be moved back 75 feet. The grand-stand will be improved and everything placed in readiness for the opening of the baseball season.

Manager Fred Shontz of the local ball team states that Irvine Jensen will arrive in Eureka tomorrow and will be the pitching staff of the Eureka team this season. Jensen did good work for the Eureka team last season, and the fans are pleased to welcome him back. Nephew Thomas has also signed to play with the Eureka team.

Secretary C. E. Hulsh has been selected as a committee to prepare for a dance on the 19th of the month, the proceeds of which will go toward the purchase of new uniforms for the ball team. The new uniforms will be the same color as the old suits and in addition each player will be provided with a nice coat of the same material. These suits will be as good as money can buy and will cost between $10 and $20.

Shontz is receiving letters almost every day from well-known amateur players, who are anxious to sign with Eureka this season and there is no doubt that this camp will have the strongest team in the State.

Championship
Basket-BallL. D. S. U. Boys to Play Wheaton
Monday Evening, in Hot Contest.

Tomorrow evening the L. D. S. U. basketball team meets the Wheaton (Ill.) champions. The people of Salt Lake who love amateur sport will get the chance of years to see a good championship article of basketball. The original L. D. S. U. team held the championship of Utah for years and is a swift aggregation. Under Coach Willard Bean the lads have been doing some systematic work for a week past that ought to land them a class or two above where they have stood.

To Be Hot Match. And the match will be for all there is in it. Both teams want to play hard ball, and both teams are in the best of form. The news, as announced in The Tribune a week ago, was given out that this since the spirit of the game is to be a hot one. The school has been at a high pitch. Every one wants to see the local team win and every one is talking so strong to that effect that the members of the team realize it is up to them to win if such a thing be possible.

Wheaton Team Champions. The Wheaton team are intercollegiate champions. They are the L. D. S. U. aggregation several months ago and scored two narrow wins over the local team. The local team were just over a hard journey and were not fit to play. Wheaton, however, was in their own floor and are in as good shape as training can make a team. As a consequence the game will be hot and even, unless all signs fail.

Bean Works Hard. Coach Bean worked hard to get this match, and after he got it worked hard to get his boys into championship trim. There is a sort of a feeling about the school that the locals are going to do the trick and the rooters will make noise if this is the case. The local team are patting themselves on the back because they are to have a hot game. The game of basketball this season. Of the sport has been to a large extent neglected. The local team ought to help things out for next winter, particularly should the local aggregation come out winners or having made a good show against the boys from Illinois.

EVER LAWSON
KING OF ALLShows Himself to Be Wonderful Rider.Australian Letter Says the Bunch Is Due Back
Last of May.All Want to Ride in Zion, and Meantime Utah Circuit Is Established.

Iver Lawson has shown himself king of all riders in Australia, according to a letter from Floyd McFarland. Mac says Lawson is no doubt the real world's champion, the fastest man who ever sat on a wheel. Lawson and the rest of the bunch will be in Salt Lake May 23, just after the opening of the track at the Salt Palace.

All Want to Come Back. Every one is anxious to stop for a while in Zion and all want to come to good terms, of course. McFarland's letter sounds as if this bunch was going to get all of last summer's riders and come new ones. The news of the new Ogden-Salt Lake circuit has not yet gotten to the ears of the antipodean bunch. When it does it will, of course, awaken new desires toward this city.

Telling of Lawson's performances, Mac says: "He won seven out of twenty finals, defeating Ellard, the ex-world's champion, in eleven out of twenty, and Rutt nineteen out of twenty, including two match races which he won in two straight heats. He is much better than I, and I don't think I ever saw a man riding faster."

Mac Is Doing Well. McFarland himself has been doing well, having won eight out of twelve starts in Western Australia. He was hurt in the accident in Melbourne, where Lawson lacerated his face and broke several fingers, but is now up and riding, as is Lawson.

Meaning arrangements for the Ogden and Salt Lake circuit are well toward completion, with Harry Hagan managing the thing, which is looked on as a good thing by all concerned.

Ogden Is Enthusiastic. Ogden people are wild with enthusiasm over the new proposition. The Seventeen race track, which is to be built, will be used for their track and they will have two meets a week, with four meets down here. Letters from the Ogden people are pouring into Hagan's hands, and so far as talent is concerned the two Utah cities are going to see the best.

With a prospect of six days' racing each week during the season, this circuit has more to offer any rider who wants to come west than has any other in this part of America. As soon as the season is settled and warm weather well on, the Ogden will be given the chance to see all their old favorites and some new ones who have won reputations in the East. And at the same time local riders will be brushing up and will give some good performances.

City Stands Well. This city shows up well with any Western city in bowling, and more than that, the bowlers of this city are improving rapidly. Already Salt Lake has one record score of 330, made on the Palace alley by Harry Hagan in the past. The city has no league that will compare in age with those of other Western cities.

Many of the bowlers here within a few days to consider the details toward sending representatives and a team to Spokane next month. The thing has awakened lot of interest among local enthusiasts in the game and has already done a great deal toward helping the sport locally. In the past the city has been unrepresented in bowling gatherings. Now the fact that representation is at hand makes every one feel better.

Lots of Good Bowlers. On the Pacific coast a number of cities, including Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, Tacoma and Bellingham, have the same for some time. They have had the same for some time. They have had the same for some time.

Spokane and other cities are equally well situated. Bowling has come to stay in the West, and this new league will make it better liked by every one than it has ever been. Next winter in Salt Lake City should see three or four good leagues and all alleys full every night.

When I think of the good friends of mine who have gone it makes me wonder that I am still in the game. One of the earliest friends I had was good old Mike Gleason. He was one of the first to see that I had the punch, but he held me back when I wanted to show them. Mike did push me to the front, but not as fast as I wanted to go. I was daffy to get a crack at Paddy Ryan, when I was a gossoon around Boston. Hearing that Paddy was to give an exhibition in Lowell shortly after he had walloped Joe Goss, and got the championship, I struck Mike to take me to Lowell.

At that time I had made good headway at the boxing trade without letting it cut out of the train. When Paddy came from work when I met a fellow named Joe Goss, and got the championship, I struck Mike to take me to Lowell.

CHICAGO, March 25.—Writing from Miami, Fla., recently, W. J. Morgan, who has just completed the management of the races in Cuba and at Palm Beach—automobiles in the former and motor boats in the latter—now believes that the winter Southern motor circuit will develop largely next year.

Starting with the Ormond, Fla., tournament three years ago, the winter motor racing in the Southland has taken a deep hold on automobilists, and it is quite probable that next winter will see a much enlarged winter circuit, possibly consisting of six tournaments.

Mr. Morgan visited Nassau, N. P., recently, and found in this ancient place suitable ground for a good motor boat carnival and a sightseeing automobile tour of the island, which, however, has only about fifty miles of road, so he is in doubt whether automobile racing is practicable in the Bahamas islands. The roads for the most part are good, but narrow.

To Improve Roads. Mr. Morgan induced his excellency, Gov. Sir William Grey-Wilson, to call a meeting at the Government house of the leading citizens and some visiting automobilists, and the proposition for the extension and improvement of the best island roads was discussed. Sir William took an active part in the discussion, and showed an earnest desire to improve the roads and construct others, in order that better driving facilities may be had. The motor boat part of the Nassau proposition could undoubtedly be made a fine success, as the water along the city front is well adapted for fast motor racing, and a course of twenty miles can be had.
